

BECKER MUST DIE FRIDAY MORNING

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 29.—Within an hour after the sun rises tomorrow morning, Charles Becker will be led through the "little green door" of the death house at Sing Sing prison and pay with his life for the murder of Herman Rosenthal on July 16, 1912.

Becker has lost his last fight in the courts of New York. Justice John Ford has refused to grant his application for a new trial. Governor Whitman has declined to interfere. Becker knows that hope is gone. He has promised to "die like a man."

It was regarded as possible today that an eleventh hour attempt would be made by Becker's counsel to appeal to some justice of the United States Supreme court. That such an appeal would be useless was generally recognized. Associate Justice Hughes having already turned down one such plea.

As the hour of Becker's execution draws near there are coming to light facts regarding his efforts to escape the electric chair that had not even been suspected by the general public.

From one source it is learned that Becker recently offered to betray five prominent men of New York city in return for executive clemency. Governor Whitman declined to bargain with the condemned man. From another source comes the information that Becker had three times offered to plead guilty of murder in the second degree after his first conviction to order to escape the chair.

Mrs. Becker who had left Ossining shortly before Becker was informed that Justice Ford had refused to grant a new trial, reached her home here in a drizzling rain early this morning. She refused to comment on the court's decision.

CORONER'S JURY FIXES THE BLAME

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 29.—Two boat line officials, two government inspectors and two officers of the death ship Eastland, were held responsible for the sinking of the Eastland with the possible loss of 1,353 lives, in the verdict of the coroner's jury, made public today. The six men were charged with manslaughter and "such other offenses as the facts may warrant."

The mortality statistics on the Eastland disaster today showed: Identified dead, 828. Unidentified dead, 23. Missing, 522. Total, 1,353.

The six men held by the coroner's jury were: Robert Reid, United States steamboat inspector, St. Joseph, Mich., who certified the Eastland was capable of carrying 2,500 persons safely. Joseph M. Ericson, chief engineer of the Eastland, and son-in-law of Inspector Reid.

C. C. Eckloff, United States inspector of steamship boilers, St. Joseph, Mich.

William M. Hull, vice-president and general manager of the St. Joseph-Chicago Transportation Company, owner of the Eastland.

W. K. Greenbaum, general manager of the Indiana Transportation Company, which chartered the boat for the Western Electric picnic.

Harry Peterson, captain of the Eastland.

The report of the coroner's jury stood out today in more bold relief than the other investigations that are under way. Coroner Hoffman said in handing down the verdict that all the evidence in his hands and the recommendations of his jury would be sent to the county and federal grand juries this afternoon.

The six men acting with the coroner determined that nothing in the acts of the passengers on board the Eastland was in any way responsible for the overturning of the vessel as the boat was improperly loaded, improperly constructed for the service required and that it was improperly operated.

The jury expressed the opinion that the federal inspection which permits the construction of ships like the Eastland is "unsatisfactory and a menace to public safety" and that the methods of determining the passenger carrying capacity of vessels is not founded on any proper basis.

The verdict of the coroner's jury in indicting the government's steamboat inspection service was returned after a few hours' deliberation. Secretary William C. Redfield of the department of commerce, had explained in detail the working methods of the department.

After working ten hours on the actual task of raising the sunken hull of the Eastland, Captain Cummings of the wrecking tug Favorite, said today that at least fourteen days would be required for the work.

Divers went to work today sealing all the openings in the hull of the ship below the water line. Others began cutting away the superstructure of the boat. As soon as this is completed, tunnels will be bored under the ship and giant chains will be fastened about her. She will be lifted to an upright position, and the interior of the hull will be chopped out and lifted from the craft.

Most of the remaining bodies of Eastland victims were buried today. While the funerals were being held State's Attorney Hoynes was directing his efforts to a rigid investigation of evidence presented his office, that while a victim of the disaster was struggling in the water about the ship, Moses Greenbaum, brother of the head of the Indiana Transportation Company, obtained the Eastland tickets from the locker of W. E. Craig, purser of the steamer Theodore Roosevelt, and attempted to induce Craig to sign a statement that there were only 2,412 tickets.

Highland's Glad Day.
Village Will Celebrate Completion of New State Road.

Highland village will have a celebration called "Glad Day" when the new state road from the village to the river is completed. The brick laying has been progressing so steadily of late that it is hoped the celebration may take place somewhere between the fifteenth and twentieth of August. When the work is far enough along so that such a thing can be done, the date will be announced. The plan is to have a parade over the new brick pavement, some timely addresses and a general jollification. People from all over the county are invited to attend the celebration. This strip of state road is in some respects one of the most remarkable in the state. It represents a cost of upwards of $120,000 for a little over a mile of road, and it runs through a most picturesque glen. The road is well worth something of a trip to see.

Special Game Saturday.
As all baseball fans know, the game to be played on Saturday between the Red Monarchs and the Tivoli nine will be some game. These men play to win whenever they play, but when in addition to the sport of the game is the impetus to make good to the big crowd that will be helping the Federation of Women's Clubs to do for our children and needy people this fall and winter, the playing is bound to be even above these players' usual best. Don't miss this game.

MOTOR ROUTES TO SARATOGA SPRINGS

An extremely fortunate situation, which makes it a veritable "hub" of automobile routes, good roads in the principle directions, a long established reputation for its many springs, and both hotel and garage accommodations unexcelled by any place of its size, combine to make Saratoga Springs one of the most popular touring centers of the eastern states. It is also very accessible, being now only one fairly long day's run from New York City, Springfield, Mass., Binghamton or Syracuse, N. Y., two easy days from Boston, Buffalo or Montreal, or a comfortable half-day ride from the Berkshires, Manchester, Vt., or mid-way points in the Mohawk valley. Through Saratoga passes probably 95 per cent of the travel from Hudson river points or below to Lake George, Lake Champlain, the eastern Adirondacks and nearby portions of Canada.

Its springs were known before the white man came, and have been famous for over a hundred years. After many vicissitudes, horse-racing still survives at the Saratoga track, drawing thousands of visitors annually. Among the many points of interest within easy reach are Saratoga Lake, Round Lake, Ballston Spa, the Saratoga battlefield and Bemis Heights, and Mount McGregor, where General Grant spent his last days. Some of the roads of today are laid out upon the trails followed by the contending armies during the French and Indian and Revolutionary wars; and nearby the British General Burgoyne surrendered to General Gates.

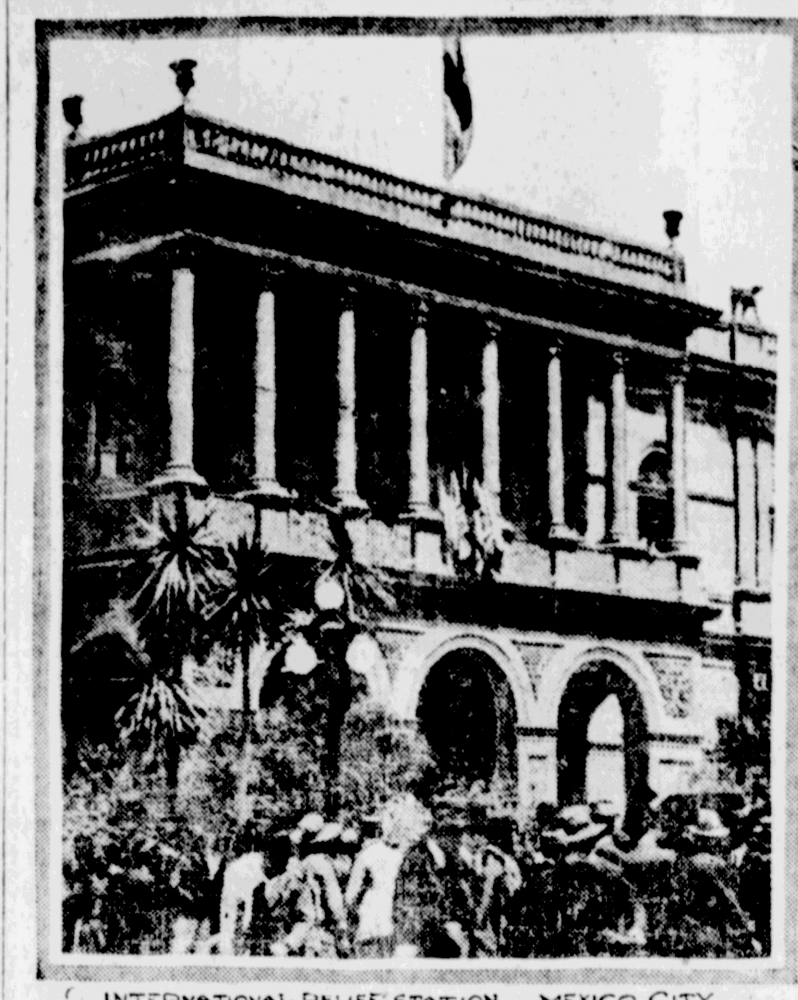

The tourist running from New York city to Saratoga Springs will find a much improved road along the east side of the Hudson river through Yonkers (12.9 m.), Tarrytown (23.4 m.), Ossining (29.3 m.), Peekskill (49.8 m.), Fishkill village (59.9 m.), Poughkeepsie (72.5 m.) and Hudson (114.4 m.) to Albany (148.6 m.) Or the west side route can be used instead, affording more and closer views of the river, though to do so requires the use of at least one ferry; and more road construction or repair work is likely to be encountered. Quite frequently, and especially on round trips, tourists make this run partly on either side of the Hudson.

Going out of Albany by State street, Washington avenue and the Northern Boulevard, practically continuous state road is followed through Cohoes, Waterford and Mechanicville into Broadway, Saratoga, 39 miles from Albany or 186 miles from New York. North of Cohoes are the picturesque falls of the Mohawk near its junction with the Hudson, the latter on right and the Champlain canal on the left of the road up from Waterford to Mechanicville, where both are left for the final stretch into Saratoga Springs.

The main-traveled lines from Boston run through Worcester, Springfield and Pittsfield to Albany; or through Greenfield and over the "Mohawk Trail" to North Adams, Williamstown and Troy, thence as already sketched, up through Cohoes, Waterford and Mechanicville to Saratoga. Both routes are good and heavily traveled; by either it is ordinarily a comfortable trip of about 1 1/2 days. Another important approach from the east is from Manchester, Vt., through Cambridge, Greenwich and Schuylerville, entering Saratoga by the battlefield at Bemis Heights and Lake avenue. The corresponding routes from the west use the Mohawk valley trunk line to Amsterdam or Scotia (on the opposite side of the Mohawk river from Schenectady,) thence up through Ballston Spa, itself a considerable resort, though eclipsed by its great rival a few miles farther north.

Most of the large amount of travel brought into Saratoga Springs by these routes from the south, east and west continues up to Lake George, either by Corinth and Luzerne (the "scenic route," 31.7 m.) or by the regular old-time road through Glens Falls (28 m.) An interesting feature of the former route is that it brings the tourist again along the Hudson river for several miles, just before that fine stream is almost lost in the deeper recesses of this region of lakes and mountains. At the lower edge of Lake George, the travel again divides into two important parts, one bearing northward through Warrensburg, Chester town and Schroon Lake village to Elizabethtown, usually considered the principal trunk-line through the eastern Adirondacks and the Champlain valley.

Additional importance is lent to this route from the fact that at Warrensburg the state road branches off to the west and north-west for Minerva, Newcomb and Long Lake, while from Elizabethtown, Lake Placid, Saranac Lake, Paul Smith's and other points in the very heart of the Adirondacks are reached over the best and most picturesque highways. The other route up from Lake George village continues along the western side of the lake to Bolton Landing or Sagamore Point, where boat is usually taken to Sabbath Day Point; then the road is again taken and continued up through historic Ticonderoga, Crown Point and Port Henry to Westport, thence either a few miles westward

INTERNATIONAL RELIEF STATION MEXICO CITY
FLAGS OF MANY NATIONS SAVE INTERNATIONAL RELIEF STATION IN MEXICO.

This picture which shows the Red Cross Hospital and International Relief Station in Mexico City, where thousands of starving citizens have been fed during the upheavals of the last few months, was made just after General Obregon (Carranzista faction) was detained from sacking the hospital by the standard of flags (center of picture) made up of the flags of seventeen nations. These flags were contributed by the consuls and diplomatic representatives of that many nations all of whom lodged vigorous protests against the vandalism with the constitutional general. He then countermanded his order to loot the building.

The citizen and foreigners in Mexico City are suffering untold hardships through prevalent conditions of want, disorder and violence. The Red Cross is doing all it possibly can to alleviate the suffering but the getting of supplies to the war ridden capital is next to impossible.

to Elizabethtown or still farther along Champlain to Bluff Point, Plattsburg, the Canadian line, or across the lake to Burlington and other Vermont points.

Saratoga Springs is the most natural and convenient point from which to plan motor trips throughout this section. All of these routes are given complete in Volume 1, Automobile Blue Book, covering New York state and Canada, while assistance in laying out any trip to best advantage can be had from the headquarters of the New York State Motor Federation, Utica, N. Y. Probably no other equal area in the United States affords more excellent trip, or is through more historic country.

To the Indians, Saratoga Springs and vicinity were known as the "hills country of the great river," a very apt description as the tourist can quickly see for himself. Lying in the angle between the northern and western war trails, it became an early battleground of the nations; whoever possessed it was master of the situation and held the "door of the country." From as far as history runs back until the comparative peace that followed the Revolution, there was never any great amount of time unbroken by fear of the savage invader, or by some clash between the French and English for supremacy on that part of that continent. Today all is peaceful, and the narrow, bloody trails of the old-time have become great thoroughfares. For a type of vehicle undreamed of until comparatively recent years.

MEAD'S MOUNTAIN HOME CELEBRATES

Fiftieth Anniversary of Opening of Popular Summer Resort Observed by Flag Raising and Addresses on Wednesday.

The fiftieth anniversary of the opening of Mead's Mountain Home, on the slope of the Overlook Mountain, was fittingly celebrated on Wednesday by the proprietors of that famous old summer resort. In the afternoon there was a flag raising, a fine pole 60 feet in height having been erected on the lawn facing the valley, the flag having been procured by Mrs. William Mead. The guests sang "The Star Spangled Banner," "The Red, White and Blue," and other appropriate selections as the flag was raised and flung to the mountain breeze.

In the evening there was a further celebration inside the house at which the Rev. Gavin Duffy of New York city delivered a very interesting address reviewing the history of the resort. A musical entertainment was also given and was greatly enjoyed.

George Mead, the founder of the summer resort bearing his name, came to Woodstock from Ridgefield, Conn., and settled on the land on which he built up the successful summer resort that he conducted until his death a few years ago. His son, William S. Mead afterward conducted the place until his death a few years ago, since which time it has been in charge of his widow, Mrs. George Mead was among those present at the flag raising on Wednesday.

BECKER RAVES AT NEWSPAPER TALES

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Ossining, N. Y., July 29.—With the shadow of death upon him, Charles Becker, who will be electrocuted tomorrow morning for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, gave way to a paroxysm of rage today when he read in the newspapers references to the death of his first wife which cast a reflection upon him.

Becker had been at prayer. The Rev. Father William Cashin, the chaplain of Sing Sing, was in the condemned man's cell in the death house when the newspapers were brought to his cell.

When Becker's eye fell upon the paragraph from Albany that the death of his first wife had been attended by mysterious circumstances, the peaceful serenity went out of his face. With curses upon his lips Becker raved and stamped in his cell. The effects of the priest to quiet him were futile. Shaking off the priest's soothing hand Becker cried:

"Governor Whitman was responsible for that. I am on the threshold of my grave but he is still trying to blacken me in the minds of the people."

Becker resigned himself to death when he heard that Justice Ford in New York had denied him another trial. His iron nerve buoyed him up and his religious fervor gave him added strength.

Resigned to his fate Becker spent the greater part of the morning in prayer. Over and over again he knelt and repeated the Act of Contrition, the prayer for departing souls, and the Litanies. Some times he prayed with Father Cashin, who rejoiced at the sincerity of the penitent.

But the priest's rejoicing was turned to sorrow by Becker's outbreak and it was a long while before the scowl left the prisoner's face and he could control his voice.

The story which enraged Becker so, stated that the doomed man's first wife died in a bathtub under suspicious circumstances and that he had neglected to provide for the support of his child by his second wife, who divorced him on statutory grounds and married his brother.

"You surely wouldn't go to your Maker with bitterness and rage in your heart," said Father Cashin. Becker, unable to control himself, thrust the newspaper into the priest's hand.

"Look at that," he fairly shrieked. "Look at that lie. They are trying to damn me and blacken me when I am on the very threshold of my grave. Could anything be more cruel?"

Father Cashin, whose wonderful influence over Becker, had transformed the doomed man from a swashbuckling, blasphemous, profane fighter into a meek Christian, set to curbing the anger of the prisoner.

"If it's the last thing I do on earth I want to deny that lying statement," declared Becker. "I was in no way concerned with the death of my first wife and I did support my child."

There was an anarchistic demonstration in the cemetery just outside of Port Au Prince where the bodies of President Guillaume, who was assassinated yesterday, and that of General Oscar, who was killed the day before, were buried. Both men and women took part and there was a great deal of shooting.

An attempt was made to burn the National Palace at Port Au Prince, but it failed.

The violation of the French flag by revolutionists who dragged President Guillaume from the French legation where he had taken refuge, and shot him, has caused a very ticklish situation for Rear Admiral William B. Caperton to handle. At present protest cannot be made as there is no recognized head of government for Haiti.

Cashin, who with Chief J. Allan Wood is representing this city at the convention.

The Busy Downtown District.

An item in the Freeman last evening may have created the impression that the Wall street merchants were the only ones who benefited by the "Dollar Day Sale." The wording of the article was unintentional, as the large stores on lower Broadway and the Strand were also filled with eager and satisfied shoppers, who voted the "Dollar Day Sale" a great success.

GUARDING WHITMAN FROM GUNMEN RAID

Extreme Precautions Taken in Albany Following a Rumor That a Gang of Gunmen Were After the Governor.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, July 29.—Extreme precautions to prevent any one from entering the executive chamber proper were taken today when the rumor was spread broadcast that a gang of gunmen were in Albany and were intent upon harassing Governor Whitman. For the first time in the recollections of the newspaper men assigned to the capitol, the gates of brass which separate the ante-room from the executive suite were closed and not even the reporters were allowed to cross the threshold. John Farnsworth, a clerk in the state prison department, was prevented from entering also, although he declared that he had been summoned for a conference with George Glynn, the Executive auditor.

Seated near the gate was Detective Akin who has been the guardian of the executive chamber for a month past. During the days the governor has been out of town he has been absent from his post.

Chief Humphrey of the New York Central detective agency, stated when interviewed, that he had issued no order that the railroad station be closely guarded to keep track of suspicious strangers. Nevertheless, the force surrounding Governor Whitman is taking no chances and access to him is being absolutely refused all who apply.

The heavy oak door which divides the ante-room from the executive chamber was closed today. This is a rare precaution.

SUIT OVER WATER BILL THAT WAS $1.40

Judge Hasbrouck has granted an order to show cause why Mrs. Cecelia O'Reilly should not be granted a writ of mandamus to compel the board of water commissioners of this city to accept $1.40 covering a bill for water supplied and to turn on the water which has been shut off. The order to show cause is returnable on Saturday morning at a special term of supreme court held in Albany. The order was granted upon the application of Judge N. Frank O'Reilly, who represents his mother in the matter.

Mrs. O'Reilly is having a dwelling house with concrete foundations built on her property at the corner of Broadway and Andrew street opposite home. The work is being done under the direction of her son, John O'Reilly. Mrs. O'Reilly received a building permit to use water in mixing the concrete used in the construction work. The latter part of June, Inspector O'Neill of the water department appeared on the scene of the building operations and informed Contractor O'Reilly that if the bill for $1.40 was not paid within ten minutes the water would be shut off. The bill was not paid at that time, but later in the day Mr. O'Reilly claims he went over to the water board office in the city hall and tendered the $1.40 but it was refused unless he paid fifty cents more as a penalty for not paying the bill before. This he refused to do and that afternoon the water was shut off and is still shut off. These facts are set forth in the affidavits that accompany the order to show cause. Mr. O'Reilly further alleges that Superintendent John H. Harrison is not a resident of Kingston but of the town of Woodstock and that his appointment is illegal and void by reason of his being a non-resident, under section 19, chapter 747 of the laws of 1896.

It is also set forth in the affidavits that at the July meeting of the water board Judge O'Reilly again tendered the $1.40 but the water board refused to accept it unless an additional $4 was paid as a penalty which Mrs. O'Reilly refused to do. This O'Reilly matter was what was discussed at the executive session of the water board when all of the reporters present at the meeting were asked to step outside and were not informed as to what was done at the session. The water board's reason it is understood, for turning off the water was that contractors using water for building operations are supposed to pay when the bill is presented. This is denied in the affidavits and a list of builders given who used water on certain dates and did not pay, it is claimed, until later.

The outcome of the suit is looked forward to with interest.

The ladies as well as the artists are giving their services in the interest of the choir fund of the church, for which the recital is being given.

RATTLESNAKE HUNT AT PALENTOWN

Palentown, July 29.—Frank Beesmer of Rhinebeck and brother-in-law, Otis Barton, of Acorn Hill, started for the mountains back of Palentown early Saturday morning on a fishing trip. Some one along the way told them to beware of rattlesnakes, and they had their eyes open for the creepy, crawly creatures. An old barn is still standing on what is known as Rastus Green's place, and Mr. Beesmer and Mr. Barton, while exploring the old building, found what must have been a family of rattlesnakes, as they saw eight or ten. They managed to kill two of them, one having three rattles and the other nine. On their way home Sunday morning they looked frightened and whispered among themselves that Mr. Barton and Mr. Beesmer would not be seen going fishing in many a day.

INGRATITUDE

It isn't the words we express, but the deeds we do that measure the degree of our gratitude. The earth and all things in Nature receive and give back that which they have to give. The law is invariable save in the one instance of man, or rather with most men: Shower upon the majority of men your favors and helpfulness and they return for more, forgetting what was done for them before.

We concede to most of the faults of our fellowmen, excluding the one of ingratitude. We are truly grateful for the good-will and patronage of our friends, and the only way we see how to prove our gratitude is to continue to brew our splendid

DUTCH AUCTION!

We have seven Hall Settees, all in oak, that sell at from $10 to $30 each regularly. They take up considerable floor space which we can utilize more profitably for the display of new Fall merchandise. To accomplish our purpose and to close out the Settees in quick order, we are going to hold one of our popular Dutch Auctions. The Settees have been placed in one of our show windows. The original prices are placed on a piece of cardboard, and each day they are marked down 50 cents until the Settees are sold.

Watch this window display closely, and when the prices have been reduced to the point at which you feel inclined to buy, step into the store and clinch your bargain. But watch out that "the other fellow" doesn't "beat you to it."

MEXICAN PEACE PLANS ARE UPSET

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, July 29.—Mexican peace plans today received another setback as a result of an official denial from Gen. Carranza that he would send delegates to Torreon to treat with representatives of the Villa faction. Gen. Carranza telegraphed the International News Service that the report that he would send envoys to such a conference was untrue.

Secretary of State Lansing today announced receipt of a dispatch from the Brazilian minister at Mexico City, which was sent out from there by courier last Sunday. The dispatch states that famine again holds the capital in its grip and intimates that immediate representation would be made to Gen. Carranza to compel the reopening of the railway to Mexico City so that food supplies may reach the capital.

The Zapatistas held the city at the time the dispatch was forwarded, though only a few of their troops were there. Most of the forces appeared to be on the battle line, opposing Gen. Gonzalez.

Secretary Lansing said that the state department might make representations regarding food supplies to General Carranza's government, which controls the railroad line from Vera Cruz toward the capital, and to the convention government which holds Mexico City.

A dispatch from Consul Canada at Vera Cruz today declared that there had been no postal facilities to Mexico City except by special courier and occasional travelers.

LETTER TO APPLE GROWERS OF STATE

The New York State Department of Foods and Markets is making arrangements for the sale of New York state apples at auction, in the City of New York, daily, throughout the season of 1915-1916.

The California and Florida fruit growers have found the auction system the most satisfactory of any methods of selling fruit. There is open competition with several hundred buyers present every day, and the top of the market is always assured. These sales are reported daily and a check, less the auction charges, is immediately sent to the shipper. There is no possible loss or delay and shippers are assured of a square deal.

The auction company is not a dealer, jobber or commission merchant, but merely sells fruit at auction, in open competition. There are always buyers eager enough to get the fruit, to bid against one another until the top of the market is reached. This plan has been presented to a large number of growers in prominent fruit growing sections of the state, and has met with general approval.

The department intends to carry on a vigorous campaign in New York city, to give publicity to New York state apples next winter and to do all it can to secure the best prices for growers, and to increase the retail sales and consumption of apples, by exerting its influence to have apples retailed at a lower price than has formerly been asked.

Meetings are being held in various parts of the fruit growing sections where the plans of the department are fully discussed by the growers, and questions are answered and explanations made by a representative of the department. Every section of the state that has a considerable quantity of apples or pears to be sold will be given full information, and a speaker will be assigned to any meeting that is arranged by local growers or granges, up to the early part of September.

The department has no object except to secure better prices to the producer and prompt returns. It is willing to exert every effort possible to help the producers, but it is evident that the department cannot sell apples daily at auction, unless it is assured of a constant and sufficient supply. This puts the question directly up to the producers. Will they do their part? Will they pledge to the department apples enough to make this auction market a success?

It is estimated that at least 800 carloads of apples will be required to carry on the daily auction market throughout the season, but the quantity of apples which might be sold under this system may be very much in excess of 800 carloads.

The grower must realize that the problem is now up to himself. He must furnish the apples to be sold, if he expects to realize the benefits that the department is now offering him.

LAKE ANAWANA CAMPERS RETURN

The Y. M. C. A. campers at Lake Anawana returned home on Wednesday afternoon after a most enjoyable outing.

The camp has been one of the most successful held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and this season 47 different boys were in camp with an average of 37 each day for three meals. One of the best features of the camp was the meals served by "Gus" Bonesteel who is noted for his feeds. For the short time spent in camp the boys managed to eat 1 calf, 17 hams, 12 hams, 40 pounds of frankfurters, 150 pounds of chicken, 250 pounds of sugar, 500 quarts of milk, 250 loaves of bread, 68 dozen eggs, 50 pounds of rolled oats, 5 barrels of potatoes, 15 watermelons, a half a crate of cabbage, 1 crate of onions, 3 bunches of bananas, 1 barrel of crackers, 1 barrel of ginger snaps, 25 pounds of coffee, 1 case of shredded wheat, 1 case of corn flakes, 30 pounds of butter not to mention beans, salmon rice peas, corn and raisins. Midnight feeds were enjoyed by the boys outside of what was eaten at the regular meals which accounts for the larger quantity of food the boys disposed of. The total number of meals served during camp was 2,561.

Every boy in camp knew how to swim before the day of breaking a camp and the camp has been noted for the fine clean Christian spirit of cheerfulness that existed throughout the season. There has been no sickness outside of a few headaches. The good wholesome food prepared by "Gus" and "Pop" is a accountable for the healthiness of the campers.

F. G. Randall of Flushing, N. Y., father of one of the boys in camp, was so pleased with honor system of the camp that he presented the boy who got the highest number of points with a beautiful silver cup, 10 inches high, properly engraved. Edwin L. Kirehner was the boy who won the cup having secured 689 points. The standing of the other boys that earned pennants, emblems, and medals for honor will be mentioned in the papers later.

How Gasoline Engines Work.

In the practical operation of a gasoline engine there are several parts, each characterized by a particular event. The cylinder is charged by an overstroke of the piston, creating a vacuum behind it and drawing in the mixture of air and gasoline gas formed in the carburetor. The charge is then compressed by the return stroke of the piston, which act secures complete vaporization of the contained air and reduces the mixture to the proper condition to be kindled by the igniting spark or other source of firing. This causes it to explode, or to expand suddenly and with great effect, and drive the piston outward again. The fourth stroke, which is the one immediately following the explosion, is known as the exhaust stroke from the fact that the piston, moving back again in the cylinder, expels the products of combustion through the exhaust valve. This process completed, the parts are in position for a repetition of the process, the valves for admitting gasoline gas to the cylinder being opened again. —Philadelphia Press.

THE SECOND BLOODY YEAR.

The European war entered on its second year of existence today. It was precipitated by Austria's action in declaring war on Serbia and Germany and the Allies followed in the arena soon afterward. The next few weeks will witness the first anniversary of many momentous military movements whose permanent importance already has passed into history.

An accurate toll of the lives already sacrificed is impossible. To give an estimate of the cost in money to the governments concerned is to hazard a guess which may be many millions out of the way. The monetary cost to the people of the countries affected in the loss of property and employment is even greater than to their governments. Should the war now end as suddenly as it began, many years would be required for economic conditions to become readjusted and the economic loss to the world resulting from the first year of the struggle never can be supplied. The wealth of the world has been depleted and no amount of subsequent human effort can replace it. New wealth can be created, but the old wealth is gone forever.

No person or country had a monopoly of the wealth which is gone but everybody shared it, even in the United States. It belonged not more to the millionaire than to the peasant.

Other losses likewise have been sustained,—to science, art, literature, education. No branch of human effort can be mentioned which has not been disarranged and damaged. All war losses are irreparable. War may best be compared to a blight or a plague. Whatever is found in its path suffers damage if it escapes destruction. Man follows in its wake and endeavors to recreate and rebuild, but he can not replace.

When the war ends, one or more nations will have gained in greatness and perhaps in territory and economic strength, but the sum total of the world's loss in civilizing and economic effort will more than balance the gain. The evil will outweigh the good.

Nevertheless, the human heart fortunately is so constituted that man will fight for the right as well as the wrong, and no matter how great the sacrifice might be, our own citizens gladly would fight and suffer if necessity required for the maintenance of right.

It is man's duty to prevent war if possible, but when the principle of right is at stake his duty to fight becomes even greater. It can be said safely that the majority of United States citizens live up to that ideal every day, and should a crisis arise in national affairs they could be depended on to perform their simple duty like men.

The latest outbreak in Haiti has nothing novel about it except the prominence of the victims and the fact that the French Government was incidentally insulted. For several centuries that country has been in a state of chronic revolution, punctuated about once a year by an acute spell. No one is sanguine enough to hope anything better. The black inhabitants are utterly unfit for self-government, and it is impossible to educate them. Eventually, the United States will have to control Haiti as it does Cuba. There should be no annexation, but a guardianship is urgently needed since it is intolerable to have a human slaughter house close to our door. Uncle Sam has been taking a good long sleep, dreaming dreams of perpetual peace, but all of a sudden he awakes to the fact that he must make up for his rest with tremendous activities in several quarters simultaneously.

The latest addition to the terrors of existence is the plan adopted by the suffragettes of New York city of systematically calling up citizens by telephone for the purpose of asking them to vote for votes for women. This comes very quickly after the introduction of a plan to sell goods by telephone, advocated by certain trade papers and already put into practice to a limited extent. We are all familiar with the common, garden variety of fool who calls you up on the telephone just to see how you are or to ask if there is anything new, and all of us have been discommoded at some time or other by some woman or callow youth afflic-

ed with the notion that a telephone line may properly be monopolized for a half hour or so. It has been well said that a telephone resembles a revolver in the respect that it should never be used except when necessary, and then briefly. It irks us to be in the position of recommending impolite conduct, but we feel called upon to advise the hanging up of the receiver every time anybody tries to make you an accessory to the abuse of telephone privileges.

HOW DID SHE DO IT?

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Some time ago the statement was read that when Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote her "Uncle Tom's Cabin" that she lived down the years she was at the very height of household cares. Her son was bringing out a few interesting pages from her life, and as the little sketch went along he told how on her busiest days this writer of one of the most vivid of heart-searching stories fluctuated from desk to the hundreds of calling duties that would not be denied. She was the mother of a large family, and one of the boys must have watched her steps very closely, for he wrote that she never failed to follow the household calls, which, for her, always came first, the writing slipping in when it could. And he added, with a fine sense of appreciation, one thinks, that their home was replete with the marks of her care.

And some busy folk who have tried to mix home-making tasks with other kinds of work—writing and the like—wonderingly have asked how she did it. Perhaps it is easy enough to do both in a slipshod fashion, but that was not Mrs. Stowe's way. If it had been, that one bit of work from her pen never would have found its way to the hearts of the world. And her son never would have remembered the shine of the home.

But again one asks—how did she do it? Because if there's another spot in the world where interruptions go along so merrily as right in the home, one would like to be reminded where it is. It verily seems as if the busy imp of all mischief is around ringing bells on impossible errands and working up schemes of infinite varieties to call one away from her work.

And among the rest of Mrs. Stowe's finer tasks, while such nagging calls were pouring in, was the telling of stories to her children. Referring to "Uncle Tom's Cabin" again, the son told how that tale came to be written, for the public to read. She had told it over and over again to her wide-eyed boys and girls, who listened in tears and with thrills till they almost knew it by heart, when at last someone suggested that she send the story adrift, in printed form, to a wider field of readers and critics. And it went, with her heart woven in it, and telling no tales of the busy days when she worked and wrote and made of her home the sanctuary it was.

Apocryph work as it runs in the home and the details that crush rather heavily at times, one heard a funny little story the other day.

It happened in a home where the mother, in-between-times, writes brief little stories for children's magazines. The head-of-the-house is likewise the head of a manufacturing concern, which naturally has its own crush of details. But he chances to be a man of mighty courage, independence and assurance withal; and so, one day, under the stress of particularly pressing home circumstances when the maid had run away with company coming too, he graciously descended from the heights of his useful occupation to straighten out a tangle in the home. Naturally, he said to himself that all there was to do was to clean up a bit, with just a little cooking on the side. And he even spoke out aloud to the effect that if he could manage affairs in his down-town plant, where work was varied and brisk all the time, he guessed a few household details would not conquer his spirit or his brain or his hands.

And the big-hearted, generous soul spent half a day in the midst of a confusion of rugs, curtains, pictures and all sorts of household flimsy awaiting their turn for attention, together with just the "little cooking on the side." It was his first real experience, and the reality of knees banded in care of polished floors, arms forcefully brandished in the removal of dust from the cherished rugs, conflicts with stepladders, mops and brushes galore, was too much for peace of mind or body. And during his impromptu service he had a taste of many unexpected interruptions.

Well, the day came to a close, as the worst days will, and he went back to his desk and his managerial tasks wiser, humbler, more understanding far of the details that make up work in the home, particularly of a home of the Stowe variety, where children and ideals abound.

But there is one thing about it, for Mrs. Stowe and all the home-workers in this or any other land—no two days are exactly alike. In some of our manufacturing shops today workers are all bound down by a steady routine that knows no change, and one easily fancies that as they sit at their carefully measured tasks, the same yesterday, today and forever, they would welcome the ring of a bell or an unexpected something that would summon them away for even a brief little minute.

But so the world runs, and those of us who know nothing worse than a few interruptions, or the many, as our work speeds along, have reason enough to be glad, for in some dreary places there is no such thing as a break in the work of the day.

"Jack," said a friend to a patrolman who had just turned in a report about a man taken ill on the street, "what did you say was the matter with that man in your report?" "I reported," said the patrolman, "with all the dignity of an accurate diagnosis, 'that he had fallen down in an athletic fit.'"—Baltimore American.

Well Named.

They were talking about a promising young man who had failed to make good as a traveling salesman. The first man said to the other man:

"It was queer about the boy. He seemed to be a regular whirlwind. His first trip was a rattling success, but all he brought back from his second trip was a bunch of foolish excuses."

"What was it you called him—a whirlwind?"

"Yes."

"I see. All 'whirl' at the beginning, and all 'wind' at the finish."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

On His Dignity.

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who has equipped a $250,000 field ambulance for the allies, told many interesting war stories during her recent visit to America.

"The new English army is wonderful," she said at a studio tea in New York. "The officials themselves are surprised at the rapidity with which the young English volunteer can be trained into a splendid soldier. Of course, though, amusing mistakes often happen before the military rules are mastered."

"An English officer told me of an incident which occurred in his regiment. One day the colonel had to reprimand severely a recruit. The next day this recruit was on sentry duty when the colonel passed by. Noticing that the sentry failed to give him the usual salute, the colonel intentionally passed him a second and even a third time. To his astonishment the salute was each time omitted."

"Do you know who I am?" the colonel asked indignantly.

"Yes, sir," the sentry answered.

"Don't you know you ought to salute me, then?" pursued the colonel.

"Aye, but," said the sentry, "three and me fell out yesterday."—Washington Star.

Had the Proof.

Mrs. Winship left her little son Randall to play with his baby brother. Shortly after she heard the baby screaming lustily. Hurrying to the place where the children were playing, she found Randall picking up marbles, while the youngster was vainly trying to get hold of some of them. "Why, Randall," said the mother, "don't be so selfish! Let your little brother play with some of your marbles." "But," protested Randall, "he means to keep them always, mother." "Oh, no, dear! I guess not," replied the mother. "What makes you think that?" "Well, I guess yes!" howled Randall. "I know he does, 'cause he's swallowed three of 'em already."—Harper's Magazine.

KINGSTONIAN BOILERS

A Vital Question

Considering how vital to the comfort and happiness of every member of your family a boiler is, don't you think it's worth while to be a little slow in deciding what one to buy, until you have looked into the question rather carefully?

There's the Kingstonian Boiler, for example, what do you know about it? Do you know that you can, in mild weather, run only half of it, and so burn only half the coal?

That's just one economy point.

Let us tell you a few of the others. We don't urge you to buy a Kingstonian. We only urge you to find out all you can about them. Then act.

INDEPENDENCE

Every man and woman in the business world should be independent of his or her job to the extent that they should always be certain they can get another and that right quickly should they lose their present occupation.

Now, this independence, which is the only safeguard of true peace of mind, is obtained only by knowing the value of the Freeman Want Ads and reading them daily, thereby keeping informed of the chances for other and better places.

There are lots in the Freeman Want Columns, so cultivate the Want Ad habit.

FRUIT GROWERS TO HOLD FIELD DAY

Influenced by the marked success that attended their affair last year the farmers and fruit growers of the Hudson Valley have again decided to hold their annual convention and field day at Orange Lake Park, near Newburgh, this year. The dates selected are Friday and Saturday, August 20 and 21. Many in this region interested in farming and fruit growing are planning to attend the outing and field day, on at least one of the two days.

The matter is to be taken up by the Granges of the various districts, with a view of having a number of the members of each organization go in a body. Keen rivalry is likely to develop as a result of the effort on the part of the respective Granges to have the largest representation.

The program being arranged for the occasion is being divided so that each day will have its quota of attractions. There will be oratory on both days and the speakers being selected are especially fitted to discuss subjects of particular interest to the farmers and fruit growers. While the members of the committee for making the program have had the foregoing idea uppermost in mind, they deviated from it somewhat in inviting County Judge A. H. F. Seeger of Newburgh as one of the speakers, but this doubtless will meet with general approbation as no one is held in higher regard or enjoys greater popularity among the farmers than Judge Seeger. He has always been pointed out as a "friend of the farmers" and the names of the other speakers will be disclosed later.

Attractions such as are usually found at a farmers' outing and more too will be present at the outing affair. There will be the ever popular contest for the most popular Grange, rate prizes, exhibitions of a various sort, etc. In addition the attractions always found at Orange Lake Park such as the roller coaster, carrousel, circle swing, boating, bathing, fishing, dancing, etc., will help to afford an opportunity to spend a very delightful day. As a special number on the first day of the outing the Newburgh and Poughkeepsie police baseball teams will engage in a baseball game. There will be other athletic events for which suitable prizes will be awarded. The merchants of Newburgh are showing much interest in the coming convention and field day and planning to give demonstrations of their wares, and promise to do their share towards increasing the attractiveness of the event. The Orange County Traction Company has offered a prize in the form of a handsome set of dishes, but just how this will be awarded has not yet been determined.

A committee of one hundred men, prominent in the various districts of the Hudson Valley, has been appointed for the convention and field day and a large proportion of them have already accepted an invitation to attend a banquet, which is to be held on Friday, August 20, the first day of the convention. Those to whom invitations to act as committeemen have been extended are as follows:

BATTLEFIELD OF POLAND.

Warsaw and Vicinity the Very Heart of the Country.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—On every field where the German armies are now fighting in the environs of Warsaw, great battles have gone before; for Warsaw has always been the chief stronghold for the defense of Poland, the industrial, commercial and financial center, as well as the physical center and the center toward which all Polish lines of communications take their way. The greatest of European conquerors have passed that way, and dealt with Warsaw as one of the half-dozen most important towns on the continent. As a military problem, Warsaw is conscientiously studied by the leading soldiers of Europe, and there are few fields for which the possibilities have been better canvassed. The geography of the country immediately surrounding this great city, the scene of a supreme test of strength between Teuton and Slav, is described in a bulletin just issued by the National Geographic Society, which reads:

"Girded by a formidable plan of fortifications and by fortified towns, which build a circular line around the metropolis, Warsaw is the best defended city in eastern Europe. Its immediate line of forts are thrown before it at a radius of about 16 miles from the heart of the city. In the immediate line of fortified towns, beyond the Warsaw forts, varying from 25 to 40 miles in distance from the city, are Garwolin in the southeast, Grojec in the south, Skierniewice in the southwest, Elone in the west, Novo Georgievsk in the northwest, Pultusk and Siergie in the north, and Praga across the Vistula to the east. The most powerful of these fortresses is Novo Georgievsk.

"The country around Warsaw is a plain, low and flat, intensely cultivated, and dotted with many industrial villages. This plain stretches away to the Prussian frontier. To the south there are hill clusters, while in the north, throughout the region adjoining the confluence of the Narew and the Bug with the Vistula, there are considerable stretches of tangled and treacherous marsh land. During the spring and autumn rains, this region frequently suffers from disastrous floods. The floods now and then prove to be terribly destructive. Novo Georgievsk fortress lies upon the confluence of the Bug and the Vistula, and the swampy stretches near it are part of its scheme of defense.

"The Vistula cleaves through this district, through fortresses before Warsaw, through the heart of the metropolis, and through fortresses toward the German frontier. In a broad expanse of between a quarter and a third of a mile in width. Parts of the river's banks are high, and Warsaw stands over the Vistula on a steep terrace, lying between 100 and 140 feet above the river. Six great trunklines traverse the plain to Warsaw, connecting the Polish city with Petrograd, Moscow, Kiev, Danzig, Berlin and Vienna. Over these railways and down the broad Vistula almost the whole trade of Russian Poland has taken its way through the first city.

"All the country before Warsaw is an open way of farm and factory. While the soils are not very fertile, being chiefly clay and sand deposits, large crops are raised upon them, crops that have been forced higher and higher to meet the needs of the great next-door market. Then, too, the Warsaw district is the most modern and progressive district in Poland, progressive in its agricultural as in its manufacture and trade. The industry of the metropolis spreads out over the city, through the neighboring villages and towns. For 20 years, the Poles have turned their energies to industry with all the seriousness which they formerly displayed in politics, and with better organization. Warsaw and the flat country in which it lies, are the heart and the inspiration of Polish industry."

KEARNEY MAY WANT TO BE MAYOR

"Who is going to be our candidate this year for mayor?" is a question that is causing considerable speculation among the members of the Democratic party and several candidates have been suggested. The latest candidate to be suggested by his friends is John B. Kearney, the president of the Chamber of Commerce, but whether Mr. Kearney would be willing to run if he received the nomination of his party is not known. At the present time Mr. Kearney is enjoying his vacation and is impossible to ascertain his attitude on the subject. From all indications the Democratic party is going to have a hard job to persuade any member of the party to be "the goat" at the fall election. Other names that have been suggested as possible candidates are those of George Washburn and George Burgevin.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, July 29.—Charles Winchell of Kingston spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Ephraim Weeks. Secor Bros. are picking large quantities of red raspberries this season. Some of our prophets predicted a drought because of the red sun. Monday's rain put an end to that expectation, however.

County Supt. Gulick visited the West Shokan S. S. last Sunday morning.

Charles MacDonough has given up the milk business. Milk is scarce in the village.

J. DeWitt has one of the best pieces of corn that we have seen this year. Loren and Sib Barley are helping Clyde Winchell in haying.

Elmer Bedell is doing a good vegetable business. Mr. Bedell brings his load from Kingston in his big Cadillac car and delivers over a large area.

Maxon, the baker, delivers bread to local merchants by auto. His machine gets here about half past six in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Giles of Poughkeepsie motored to this place Sunday and called on relatives.

Most of the younger set are practicing for a play which they will give some time in August.

Mrs. Hobson and daughter, Lois of Mr. Vernon are visiting at C. T. Page's.

While passing through the village Sunday afternoon a big Peerless car from Philadelphia suffered a blow out that could be heard a mile away. Some of our residents thought a shooting affray was on judging by their startled looks.

The new city buildings which are to be used for power houses are very handsome structures, built of concrete with brick interior.

Haying is discouraging work these days. Some of our younger farmers are like Steve Brodie "taking a chance," but most of them are holding out for pleasant weather. Better look out for Jack Frost, friends.

Ethel Giles has returned to her home in Poughkeepsie, after spending a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Giles.

George Dibble has a fine piece of cats.

William Cudney is making a number of improvements to the W. Secor place, which he bought this spring. Mr. Cudney has one of the cleanest looking places in town.

R. W. Longyear has city guests. Ephraim Weeks has his famous "Indian knoll" sowed to buckwheat. This knoll which is supposed by many to contain Indian treasures has not been plowed in many years.

Deer tracks are quite numerous this year.

Many of our folks are wondering why the Watson Hollow Inn was so named, situated as it is several miles from Watson Hollow. Would not Bridal Veil Inn have been more appropriate, considering the proximity of the beautiful falls of that name? But after all, what's in a name. The place is fitted up in a charming manner and is well patronized in spite of the nomenclature.

Tourists will be interested to learn that there is a new road below the dam by which autos may venture in the very shadow of the main wall.

We had occasion to travel up the Ridge road the other day. We wish the town officials might have to go over this apology for a highway a few times. It might wake them up to the fact that they were elected for a purpose, and that they fell short of their duty when they allow stone to be dumped in the road and remain uncovered all summer. This road is a disgrace to the town and we hope to see it in better shape the next time we pass that way.

Alan Hughes is employed at Rockland Lake.

Dr. Bloom of Walkkill made several calls here Monday.

Farming is rather an exciting vacation judging by the way the lords of the soil have had to hustle this season. Rye, hay and a daily shower make a combination hard to beat.

Charles Giles is helping Ephraim Weeks in haying.

Of Two Evils—

Hugh had been left with his grandparents when his mother was called away by the illness of her father. A few days after she went away the little fellow said: "I wish I was where mother is." His grandmother said, "Why, just think! if you were there you would be missing your school," to which he replied, "Yes, but don't you know it is a great deal worse to miss your mother than your school?"

Reversed Conditions.

"You are careful to set an example for your son?" "I used to try to set him an example," replied the serious man. "But now I study him attentively to ascertain what kind of clothes I ought to wear and the style of conversation that is considered smart."

ELIHU ROOT STILL OPPOSED TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE. (Elihu Root.)

New York, July 29.—Argument between the woman suffragists and their opponents regarding the attitude of former Senator Elihu Root toward votes for women, brought out the statement from the opposition, backed by written matter from Mr. Root, designed to show that he stands now as firmly against suffrage as he did in the constitutional convention in 1894. Three notes are quoted from him to show that his views have not changed. One of the letters quoted was written in January 1914 to Alice Hill Chittenden, president of the Anti-Slavery organization in this state, in which Mr. Root wrote: "I have not changed by opposition to Woman Suffrage in the least; on the contrary, observation and reflection have strongly confirmed the adverse opinions which I expressed twenty years ago."

Play Your Own Hand.

In this land of opportunity you are cautioned against merely recognizing a good chance and stopping there. Dreaming that there is money in something doesn't get the money out. Neither is the plan of playing one man's capital against that of another fellow the best way to set the getting rich. You must invest your energy as well as money in order to make success.—Los Angeles Times.

Demonstrating.

"Who's the guy who wastes so much time running back and forth through the building?" "Oh, that fellow?" "He's our efficiency expert."—Buffalo Express.

ANOTHER BRITISH STEAMER LOST

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 29.—Twenty-six sailors are believed to have perished when the British steamer Mangara, 14,821 tons, was torpedoed by a German submarine in the North Sea off Lowestoft, Wednesday.

Another neutral ship was added to the list of submarine victims today when a dispatch from Stavanger announced that the Norwegian steamer Nordlyset had been towed there after being found abandoned with a large hole in its port side, caused by an attack by an U. boat. The hold was full of water and the vessel had lost its rigging.

The steamer had been set on fire, and the flames had apparently died out before she was burned.

IDENTIFYING PROPERTY OF EASTLAND VICTIMS.

IDENTIFYING CLOTHING OF EASTLAND VICTIMS.

Hundreds of the bodies in the temporary morgue in the Second Regiment armory in Chicago, victims of the Eastland disaster are still unidentified. All day long a steady stream passes before the bodies, while in this little room, others look at the clothing and other belongings of the victims in the hope of identifying them. Many of the bodies were recovered still clutching to picnic baskets, suit cases, tennis racquets or clothing being taken along on the pleasure trip. A pitiable sight is the number of dolls and toy passagels carried by the little kiddies, picked up in the muddy waters.

Why They Fire 101 Guns.

The origin of the English royal salute, which consists of 101 guns, is explained as follows: It was originally decreed that the sovereign should be saluted with 100 guns, but once when the duke of York, afterward William IV, was being greeted by the fleet the officers in charge lost count and ordered another round to be fired to make sure.

When Florence Was Capital.

Florence has had some previous association with the Italian court, for in 1894 it was made the temporary capital of Italy, and in the following year the king and court removed there. In the same year the first assembly of the Italian parliament took place there. Not until 1871 did the government remove to Rome as the capital of Italy.

Soil Yields Abundant Crops.

In some of the islands of the West Indies there are areas of cane which have yielded fair crops for twenty years without replanting. In Cuba the most progressive planters usually allow no more than five or six "ratoon" crops, the fields being then replanted. The soil is so rich that rotation of crops has apparently not been found necessary.

CHURCH PICNIC COMPLETE SUCCESS

Wednesday the annual picnic of St. Peter's Church was held at Kingston Point and it proved a success in every way despite the fact that a severe shower visited the city in the evening. The crowd arrived early and got under cover while the sun was shining and most of them remained until after the rain had passed away and the moon appeared and made the evening pleasant.

The pupils of the school, who filled four trolley cars, left the corner of Broadway and McEntee street at 1:05, and rode uptown and then proceeded to the Point, where upon their arrival they were each given ice cream and cake. All along the route the children sang songs and the Rev. George Wermuth, who was in the first car with the boys, made things lively by giving cornet solos, and he certainly did attract some attention. After the children had enjoyed their refreshments the afternoon was devoted to sports, the results of which were as follows:

The contests opened about 2:30 o'clock. The first number on the program was a 25 yard dash for boys of the first grade. There were eight entries and the winners were Raymond Vollmer and Stephen Connolly. Each received a baseball. This was followed by a pan race. Eight boys seated in a pan attempted to exceed the speed of an automobile by going the distance of the hall in a pan, but the one who reached the rope first was Wilson Boice and he chose a mask for his prize.

The three-legged race was won by Edward Louffgen and George Cady, and the standing broad jump by Roger Peters.

The running broad jump was won by Paul Karman, although it took several efforts to defeat his opponents. His prize was a baseball bat.

William Albrecht was the victor of the standing high jump. He had eight opponents but William cleared the line at a safe distance above all of them. His choice of prize was a baseball mask.

The running high jump was won by Joseph Koenig. There were seven contestants. He was awarded a baseball bat.

The contests for the girls opened with a bunch of pupils of Room 1 endeavoring to give a "broad grin." The prize a parasol, was awarded to Catherine Martinell.

The hopping race, eight contestants, was won by Helen Rasmussen, the prize being a pretty pink hair ribbon.

The candle race, in which nine girls endeavored to run from one end of the hall to the other and return carrying a burning candle was won by Hilda Woerner, the prize being a box of candy.

The flower race was won by Emma Rasmussen. This consisted of picking the petals at one end of the room and forming the flower at the other end. A handkerchief was the winners' prize.

Anna Weber was awarded a box of candy for tossing the largest number of pebbles into a jar. She had numerous opponents and it took five attempts to finally decide the contest. A bell ringing contest, in which the young ladies attempted to ring a bell which hung in the center of a hoop by hitting it with a ball, was won by Mary Clare and she received a set of pins.

The contests closed with a peanut push. There were ten contestants and Miss Catherine Mathia succeeded in rolling the nut the length of the hall first and for her efforts was awarded a book. All the prizes for the girls were donated by Mrs. Jacob Rice. The contests were supervised by Rev. George Wermuth, and the Misses Emma Rice, Mary Mellert, Anna Porch and Anna Sass.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph F. Rummel, former pastor, accompanied by Rev. Nicholas Hans, of the Church of the Assumption of New York, were attendants at the picnic. Dr. Rummel was warmly welcomed by his one-time parishioners. He arrived at the picnic just as it started to rain and many who started to leave returned to get a glimpse of his smiling countenance. He remained until the event closed.

About 7 o'clock a number of parcels contributed by the young ladies were auctioned off. Rev. George Wermuth acted as auctioneer and he filled the role to perfection.

zinsky's house. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Rose and son Alvarez, and Sahler Hornbeck of Kingston called on Mr. and Mrs. S. Coutant on Tuesday afternoon, returning to Kingston by way of Rifton.

War Orders Refused.

Recently one of the nations at war in Europe offered the Coldwell-Willcox Company of Newburgh a large order for munitions. They were asked to turn out a large number of shells. The offer was rejected. It was then offered to the Dutchess Tool Company of Beacon and this company has also turned it down. Aside from the fact that it would mean the installation of special machinery the companies preferred to remain strictly neutral in the war.

GREAT SNAKES AT PINE GROVE

How Would You Like a Five Foot Serpent to Upset Your Sugar Bowl While You Were at Breakfast?

Pine Grove, July 29.—The witches in Macbeth's time could offer a solution on most any question that was asked of them with a great degree of accuracy, that is, if Shakespeare and Munchausen were unrelated; and there are seers since, past and present, who have mod a corner on the mystic dope, whose talent we feel would have been taxed to a full capacity last week in Pine Grove.

Imagine yourself sitting downstairs, and hearing strange noises upstairs, when you felt sure no one was there. A spool of thread rolls from a bureau, a book falls from a table, a peculiar sound as of a rug being gently drawn over the bedroom floor and so on.

No, Mabel, it was not a rat. On Sunday morning, as the Misses Ruth and Edythe Bratt were sitting in the dining room after breakfast, the cover fell from the sugar bowl on the sideboard, and upon looking in that direction they beheld a monstrous snake enjoying the sweet meat.

Why, certainly they hollered for help!

The snake was five feet, two inches long (he was standing in his stocking feet when the young ladies saw him), and four and one half inches in circumference and undoubtedly the largest of the black order that has been seen by the residents of Pine Grove. Oh, yes! He was killed—and photographed.

Corn on the Cob ---the Roasting Ear

Is not more delicious than the

New POST TOASTIES

In the growth of corn there is a period when the kernels are plumped out with a vegetable milk, most nutritious (roasting ears). As it slowly ripens this hardens and finally becomes almost flinty.

This nutritious part of the corn is cooked, seasoned, rolled thin, and toasted by a new process which enhances the true corn flavour.

Different from ordinary corn flakes, the New Post Toasties have a distinctive form and flavour; and they keep their appetizing crispness, even after cream or milk is added.

These Superior Corn Flakes come oven-fresh in tight wax-sealed packages; and they cost no more than ordinary "corn flakes." Insist upon having

But unless the nature is high in the scale of intelligence there is an inclination to selfishness, idleness, love of display and jealousy.

The governing planet is the Sun, giving a generous, warm, ardent nature.

These persons will prove good friends and will be able to give good advice.

The governing planet is Leo, which gives energy, force of character and courage.

The home secretary declared that England is suffering from a shortage of three million tons of fuel monthly.

Mary, wife of Edward Brown of Whiteport, died suddenly on Wednesday evening from an attack of heart failure at the home of her son, Michael A. Brown, of No. 22 Mary's avenue. Mrs. Brown had come in from Whiteport that day to attend the outing at Kingston Point of St. Peter's Church. She went to Kingston Point with her son's children and spent a most enjoyable day. Those who met her that afternoon at the outing say that she seemed in the best of health. She returned to her son's home with the children about 7:30 o'clock that night. She had been in the house but a short time when she complained of pains about the heart. Every effort was made to relieve her suffering and a physician was sent for but before his arrival she had died, having been sick but half an hour. Her son, who was at Kingston Point attending the outing, was notified of his mother's illness and hurried home. The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker McCabe of Rosendale and the funeral will be held in Saturday morning at 8:30 from the late residence and at 9:30 from St. Peter's Church, Rosendale. MRS. BECKER WILL MAKE FINAL APPEAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 29.—Mrs. Charles Becker, whose husband is to be executed tomorrow morning in Sing Sing for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, went to Albany today to make a final appeal to Governor Whitman to spare her husband's life. Mrs. Becker said she would be satisfied if Governor Whitman would only grant a stay of execution until the court of appeals meets next October.

Attorneys Bourke Cockran and Martin T. Manton, counsel for Becker, held a long conference on the possibility of appealing to Justice Hogan at Syracuse, New York, to grant a stay of execution, but they discovered that the justice had no power.

Becker's third lawyer, J. B. Johnston, accompanied Mrs. Becker to Albany. He said before leaving that Mrs. Becker would not ask to see the governor until late in the afternoon. Her appeal, it was said, would be based upon the grounds of fairness.

Governor Whitman now has the hope of intermingling with slight hope was held out that he would intercede in the prisoner's behalf because of his outspoken views on Becker's guilt.

Mr. Manton denied a story printed in the New York newspapers that Becker would have consented to a plea of guilty of murder in the second degree after his first conviction was reversed.

"Becker would never plead guilty in any degree," said the lawyer. "He is innocent, although he may have done some grafting when a member of the police force. If he dies he will go to his doom with protestations of innocence upon his lips."

"Mrs. Becker is a wonderful woman and has helped us greatly in the fight to save her husband's life. Most women would have broken down, but she did not. Most of the credit for the hard fight made in Becker's behalf goes to her."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoag celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary at their home, No. 29 Jarrold street, on Saturday. The couple had been to the home of the son, Charles E. Hoag, during the evening, it having been prearranged by the three children, Charles, Mrs. Everett and Miss Minnie Hoag. Later the parents were sent an urgent call to come home and when entering the house were surprised to hear the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march rendered by Muller's orchestra of ten pieces. To say they were surprised is expressing it mildly. A fine supper was served at midnight. J. F. Gies and wife, toastmaster and toast were drunk to the guests of honor. Mr. and Mrs. Hoag were warmly congratulated by the visitors and received a number of handsome presents.

pers in Poughkeepsie recently were

Byron Clearwater, Mrs. Althier Winfield, Mrs. Clayton Mead and son,

Carpenter and Allie Williams, Mrs.
Zophar Aldrich and Miss Bertha Dimsey.

Mrs. Welker of New York rendered a sacred solo last Sunday at the morning service in the M. E. Church.
She has a clear soprano voice. Her enunciation was clear and the phrasing excellent. She has power and with all a sweet voice. There seemed to be a break of every tone, a reserve force, always perceptible in a good singer. Her selection was greatly appreciated and hope all may hear her often.

Miss Ada Whitmore and Mrs. L.
Auchmoody of Arlington and R. Du-Bois motored last Sunday to Fishkill Plains to view the great remains of soldiers who are stationed there. The place is filled with automobiles and other conveyances and hundreds of daily visitors. It is very interesting.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Club will hold its regular business and social meeting Friday afternoon, August 6, in the M. E. Church parlors.
There will be four lady hostesses and a fine time is expected. Mrs. W.
F. Wilcox, Mrs. L. Hammond, Mrs.
Charles Terwilliger and Mrs. Edward Rhodes are the ones who will receive.

Camp Fire Girls will hold a food sale on Episcopal Church lawn on August 6.

Mrs. Kelsey Staples, organist of first M. E. Church here gave as the offertory last Sunday, the very appropriate selection, "Should Old Acquaintance Be Forgotten." It was very artistically played and much appreciated and enjoyed by the Rev.
Edward Hunt, a former pastor of 25 years and the congregation. It was evident he had not been forgotten by the greetings he received for all were delighted to have him among them and hear his grand sermons both morning and evening.

Mrs. G. H. Brown has left to stay at Ashbur Park a short time.

Mrs. Maude Adams is at her home on Maple avenue, having returned from New London, Conn.

Mrs. F. Vail of Vineyard avenue has guests from Poughkeepsie for several days at her attractive home, Lake Lodge.

In August 11, on Wednesday evening, the M. E. Church parlors will be thrown open and a first class supper served from 5:30 until 8:30.
It is to be served early, giving the business men an opportunity to get their meal without going home for it. This supper will be a good substantial one and the price only 35 cents, cheaper than at your own home, so greet the ladies on that evening and have a fine supper and a good social chat with your friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Rhodes took an auto trip last Sunday to Fishkill Plains. That seems to be a popular place now to watch the soldiers. It certainly is very interesting.

Dr. Terwilliger had a grand time in Kingston at the Elks' banquet Saturday evening last.

The moving picture building, we notice, has quite a crowd every evening. The shower on Monday evening sort of put a damper on it, still there was a number who went for they wanted to see "The Virginian." Some of the people here seem to have plenty of money to attend all shows.
Ask the grocer and butcher about it.
Well, just wait and see the crowd that will attend the tabernacle when it is built. All hope that may be a success and that some good may be the result.

Daisy Brilly, one of the postoffice girls, who has been ill, is again at her accustomed place.

The laying of the brick on the state road is going on very well. They are now at Schantz's lower mill and if the weather proves favorable a great deal will be accomplished by Saturday night. Perhaps in a few weeks more people will be able to go to the ferry without the task of hill climbing, which will be a grand thing, and the residents of this place, when the road is finished, after over three years trying to get it, ought to sing the Long Metre Dextology.

Mrs. Dr. Ganse has been ill for a few days. At this writing can report she is improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Elting left here Wednesday in their automobile for the Adirondack mountains, where they expect to spend a couple of weeks.

pastor of the M. E. Church here, was warmly welcomed last Sunday when he preached both morning and evening to good sized congregations. He is at present preaching at Bedford Hills.

The Rev. J. C. Coddington will be out of town for a few days this week.
Sherwood Inn has at present several guests. They find it a nice place to board.

ron DuBois spent a few days this week in New York city and had a very fine time.

George DuBois and family of Beacon were guests in town for the week end.

Miss Mona Gilman of Poughkeepsie was a guest of Mrs. R. H. Decker on Tuesday.

A few from here are talking of attending the fair at Clintondale on Friday, August 13. The band from this place will furnish the music. It is only six miles from here, and so the people who have automobiles can go and have a good ride, and super, purchase articles to help on the finances and never miss it, for helping on a good cause there should never be any fault-finding, and we hope people will feel a duty and pleasure to help on all occasions, where the interest of the church comes in.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Clearwater had guest from New Paltz recently.

D. of A. will hold their regular meeting the first Wednesday in August.

Mrs. Almira Freer, Mrs. Martin
Schantz, Miss Ruth Freer and Mrs.
P. Landfried spent one day the past week at West Point. They enjoyed the sail down and returning, and report the scenes at the Point very interesting. The cadets are at present camping out on the grounds, and they are renovating the rooms in several buildings, but they all decided West Point a delightful place.

Mrs. Lederer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merbeck, who spent a few days in New York returned here Saturday evening to remain for some time.

Highland Grange will have a regular meeting on August 10. Miss E.
Breakenridge is the lecturer.

Mrs. Fagen of New York city is staying for a week or longer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merbeck. The mother, Mrs. Merbeck, has been ill for several months. Their many friends hope for the recovery of Mrs. Merbeck.

Dr. Franklin Welker of New York city is at his summer home here for a vacation and much needed rest. He is a busy man in the city and greatly appreciates this summer home, where he and his family can enjoy the fresh air and spacious porches and lawn which one does not have in the city.

Dr. Blakely has been out of town a few few days on account of the illness of his father.

Sorry to learn that Mrs. Stone and daughter, Ethel, expect in the near future to leave here and take up their residence in the west.

meeting last week and had a very interesting one, so a member reported.

guest the week end of friends in town.

Mrs. Huson were on a motor trip last Sunday and enjoyed it greatly.

Mrs. Blakely played the organ in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday. She handled the instrument very well indeed.

We hear from good authority that the Rev. and Mrs. William Wilcox of Baltimore will be guests for some time of relatives here. Mrs. Wilcox underwent an operation a short time ago. It was successful and glad to report she is improving in health, and her relatives here will be delig-ted to know she will be in town so they may visit her.

In Search of Change.
Fortunately we are all impressionable and readily influenced by whatever surroundings we put ourselves into. Go to a lecture on geology, astronomy, political economy or whatever else you know nothing about and in which you have not the slightest interest. That very fact is your salvation. You will get out of yourself completely, which you cannot do if you attend exclusively those functions in line with your own tastes.
